adrotater

The AdRotator control in ASP.NET is a web server control that displays advertisements on web pages. It can display a .gif file or other graphic image. When a user clicks the ad, they are redirected to a target URL. The AdRotator control can get ad information from a variety of sources, including:

- An XML file
- Any data source control, such as the SqlDataSource or ObjectDataSource controls
- Custom logic

The AdRotator control can filter ads by keyword.

EX

```
<Advertisements>
  <Ad>
    <ImageUrl>~/Images/Ad1.jpg</ImageUrl>
    <NavigateUrl>http://www.example.com/ad1</NavigateUrl>
    <AlternateText>Advertisement 1</AlternateText>
  </Ad>
```

```
  <Ad>
   <ImageUrl>~/Images/Ad2.jpg</ImageUrl>
   <NavigateUrl>http://www.example.com/ad2</NavigateUrl>
   <AlternateText>Advertisement 2</AlternateText>
  </Ad>
</Advertisements>

In your ASP.NET web page, add the AdRotator control and specify the path to the AdRotator.xml file.

<asp:AdRotator ID="AdRotator1" runat="server" AdvertisementFile="~/AdRotator.xml" />

Ex: consider two RE.
$$r = 0^* + 1^*$$
$$s = 01^* + 10^* + \overset{*}{1}0 + (0^1)^$$

(a) Find a string corresponding to r but not to s.

    00
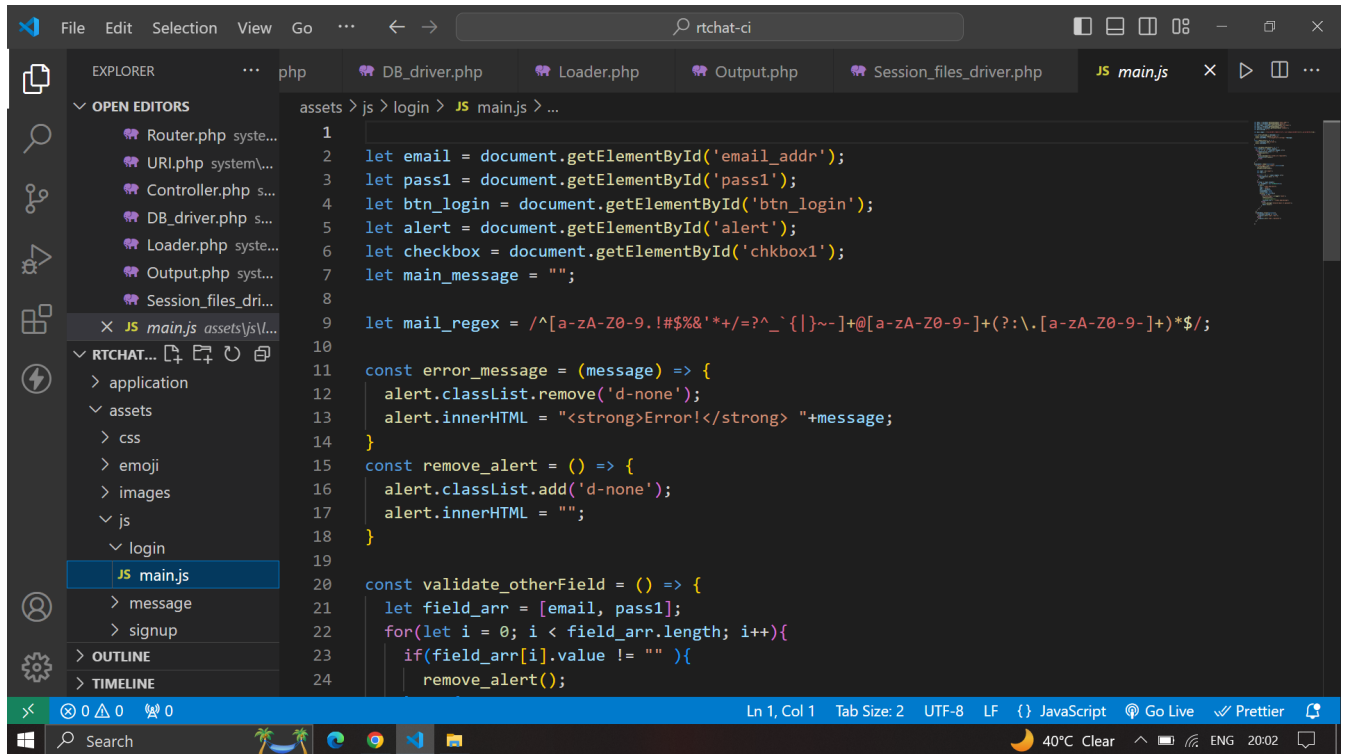

(b) Find a string corresponding to s but not to r.

    01
    10

(c) Find the string corresponding to both r and s.

    1

(d) Find a string corresponding to neither r nor s.

    010
    1010

```javascript
let email = document.getElementById('email_addr');
let pass1 = document.getElementById('pass1');
let btn_login = document.getElementById('btn_login');
let alert = document.getElementById('alert');
let checkbox = document.getElementById('chkbox1');
let main_message = "";

let mail_regex = /^[a-zA-Z0-9.!#$%&'+/=?^_`{|}~-]+@[a-zA-Z0-9-]+(?:\.[a-zA-Z0-9-]+)$/;

const error_message = (message) => {
  alert.classList.remove('d-none'); alert.innerHTML = "Error! "+message;
const remove_alert = () => {
  alert.classList.add('d-none');
  alert.innerHTML = "";

const validate_otherField = () => {
  let field_arr = [email, pass1];
  for(let i = 0; i < field_arr.length; i++){
    if(field_arr[i].value != "" ){
      remove_alert();
